Pieces to Be Proud Of

At Eagle Butte High School, graduation ceremonies come early and we are just a few days away from celebrating our students crossing the stage to receive their diplomas. As we stand on the threshold of graduation, I am filled with profound admiration for each one of you. Today marks not just the end of a chapter, but the beginning of a journey filled with limitless possibilities.

Graduating from high school is not merely a ceremonial accomplishment; it is a testament to your resilience, dedication, and unwavering commitment to your goals. High school brings students through new challenges. Not everyone faces them all, but no one is exempt from many of these experiences in the three years they are with us. It is incredible to remember that 12 years ago, this group was learning their alphabet – and now they are solving complex equations, writing analytical essays, and engaging amazing creativity.

Throughout your high-school years, you have so many pieces to be proud of:

🧘 Balancing academic, family, work, and social commitments, which shows your ability to prioritize and plan.

✖ Facing failure – maybe failing an assignment or test, or maybe an entire course and learning from your mistakes to pick yourself up again, do it over or making a new plan for success.

🌐 Wrestling with many real-world issues, including discovering what you need to do to secure the future and career you want and working toward attaining those goals.

🕒 The late-night study sessions, a show of commitment to yourself and your learning.

🔄 Sorting through the social-emotional side of every day while building relationships, coexisting with those you do not see eye-to-eye with, maybe being socially isolated at times and seeing that to go fast, you go alone but to go far, you need to go together.

These are just some of the experiences students shared with me as we reflected on how high school is a stepping stone from youth to adulthood. So graduates, as you step into the vast expanse of the world beyond these halls, remember that the diploma you hold in your hands is more than just a piece of paper. It is a symbol of your potential, your capacity to learn, grow, and thrive in any environment. It opens doors to opportunities you may not have even dreamed of and lays the foundation for a future filled with success and fulfillment.

And to all our students still journeying through these high school years, embrace them fully. They go quickly. And we want every one of our students to cross that stage and be proud of persevering through all the pieces that culminate in becoming a proud Eagle Butte High School graduate.

Congratulations to the class of 2024!

KEY Study Guides - On Sale Until May 8th

Want curriculum-based diploma practice?

Just six weeks of classes left before diploma exams! If you think your student would benefit from some practice, these resources offer practice questions and examples from the curriculum and content they have been learning this semester. This is not a fundraiser - just a service offered by the library to our students and families to save some money on cost and shipping.

A promotional graphic with a background of open books. It features three overlapping colored boxes: a teal box on the left with the text 'Unit Reviews', an orange box on the right with the text 'Exam Prep', and a purple box in the center with the text 'Study Skills'. Below the boxes, there is a block of text in black font.

Do you want extra resources to study for Diplomas?
Here is one last chance to get in on the great savings and unlock your full academic potential.

The KEY Study Guides and SNAP Workbooks are curriculum-specific resources that help students prepare for tests, final exams, and standardized assessments.
